Publishers Meet

Toronto — Weekly editors and publishers with their wives and families, representing a number of Canadian and English weekly newspapers, will gather at the King Edward Hotel here September 4, 5 and 6, for the 1958 annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association.

The three-day meeting will center on problems facing the industry and sessions will be held with representatives of advertisers and agencies and the Audit Bureau of Circulation.

Highlighting the discussion, both formal and informal, will be the matter of better promotion of the weekly newspapers as an important medium for local and national advertisers.

This is expected to bring official sanction by delegates for the inauguration of an effort to support a fulltime promotion and public relations department in the CWNNA national office.

According to Wm. Telfer, CWNNA managing director, promotion of weekly newspapers is an important matter as it goes a long way towards increasing revenues thereby assisting many weeklies now struggling hard to stay afloat.

Among guests expected to be John Thomson, managing director of the Northridge group of weeklies in Ontario and the Government of Ontario will give a dinner in the evening.

Lucien Fontaine, of Val d'Or, president of the French Language Weekly Newspapers of Canada, is also expected to be present at the convention.

Pickeral abundant in Cypress Lake

Results of test netting carried out last summer by the natural resources department's Fisheries Branch, show abundant pickeral populations in Cypress Lake in northwestern Saskatchewan.

Cypress Lake is situated about 15 miles south of the resort area of Cypress Hills Provincial Park, which is visited by thousands of tourists yearly.

According to Assistant Fisheries Director George Coudwell, test netting, using two, three, four and five-inch mesh nets 50 yards each, was carried out in August, 1957, about one mile east of the west dam on the lake, in nine to 14 feet of water. Overnight catches in these nets yielded a total of 182 pickeral, one perch and 190 common suckers.

In addition, 100 yards of three-inch mesh set in shallow water near the gate on the dam yielded 84 pickeral, 55 suckers, four perch and two burbot. Pickeral caught in three and four-inch mesh ranged from 10 to 17 1/2 inches in length, and in the two-inch mesh, from 11 to 17 inches. All pickeral still alive were released into the water.

There are presently no angling facilities on Cypress Lake, Mr. Coudwell stated. Most of the angling has been done from the shoreline or from the dam at the east end.

Stiff Course for a Stern Job

Young Canadians for whom the lure of the sea holds its timeless fascination may qualify for a life in the merchant navy at one of the country's six marine schools situated across Canada from St. John's, Newfoundland, to Vancouver, B.C. Above, Cadet Lemay takes his "turn at the wheel" under the watchful eye of classroom instructor M. J. McNeil at Quebec's Vetchin Marine Institute at Rimouski on the south shore of the St. Lawrence.

On the parade grounds of the Rimouski school cadet officers fall in for uniform inspection. During the summer months students are given practical seamanship experience under sea-going conditions in the school's training vessel the "St. Barnabe" — a converted Fairmile acquired from the Canadian Navy in 1947.

Like sailors from time immemorial, today's seaman must know his ropes. A special award is provided where students can practise such seamanship skills as splicing ropes, care of blocks and tackles and battening latches.

The stiff 2-year course runs the gamut from classes in navigation and chartwork to radar plotting, astronomy, meteorology, ship construction and naval architecture.

Facts about eye banks

Today most large centres through the world have one or more eye surgeons who make a study of corneal transplantation. According to an article by Dr. Hugh L. Ormby in the current issue of Magazine Health, official publication of the Health League of Canada, one of the major problems facing surgeons in this field is the scarcity of donor eyes suitable for corneal grafting. It is generally accepted by these surgeons that the eyes must be healthy and must be used soon after the death of the donor. The most immediate function of the eye-bank is therefore to obtain the eye as soon after death as possible, to examine it for disease to treat it with antibiotic agents and to transport it to waiting surgeons without delay. One of the most extensive research programs of its kind on problems dealing with eye bank storage and corneal grafting has been underway during the past four years in the Department of Ophthalmology, University of Toronto, says Dr. Hugh L. Ormby.

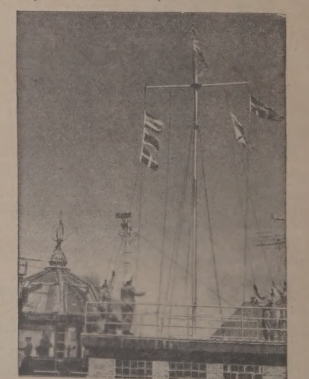

In a series of 70 corneal grafts performed at the Toronto General Hospital in the past four years, but a single eye has been lost by infection. Since the institution of the Ontario Eye Bank in 1956, 188 eyes have been received and 180 eyes have been provided for corneal grafting in the Province of Ontario. A donor system has been instituted whereby individuals wishing to donate their eyes after death may do so by signing a card which is registerable by the Canadian Institute for the Blind. There are at present 2,000 names on the donor list.

English couple, plus dog, working way 'round world

The couple are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Robins from Southend-on-Sea, England, about 25 miles from London in Essex County. They started their world tour on May 15 in their 1934 Buick with a second-hand Land Rover, a pet dog named Taro, and a pet cat named Taro. They planned after years of saving for retirement years, but a day-by-day journey that will take the place of a regular retired life for years.

The idea of going around the world comes to everyone at some stage in their lives. Frank Robins got the idea while he was in the National Service in England and hitch-hiked all over England and Scotland. Later he hitch-hiked to motor-cycling and he met Jackie, his wife-to-be, and they toured all over France on motor bikes. Last year they were married and instead of setting up housekeeping in a regular home they immediately started saving for their trip. They were able to buy the second-hand Land Rover at a somewhat better regulation cost from the company and they were ready to go.

The first impulse came from a similar tour carried out by these Cambridge and three Oxford students that was televised over the BBC this spring. Frank Robins says that they had already made up their minds to make the trip anyway, but that that was the impulse.

The Robins are a young couple without any surplus of cash for luxury travel, but the way they have equipped their Land Rover for world travel is ingenious.

Originally the back of the Rover was constructed to allow the top to be raised with a screw constructed at the back with sufficient load-room for eating, sleeping and parking accident when they left Montreal - ordered this Rover they have a tent extension for the Rover for camping with beds constructed in the back of the actual car from old bus seats.

Various angles along the route have added to their equipment and provided a cot and other essential objects. And they commented on the way people after food and room just in case the going gets tough.

The tour plan is a rough one anchored on world-famous landmarks that the couple wish to see. Niagara Falls is the main point of interest in this area, although the couple haven't yet found time to visit it.

Immediately upon arrival in Montreal the couple secured work planning to leave near June and they hope that contacts arranged there with various tobacco growers in this district will lead to a job there. The most refreshing aspect of an employment bid from this couple will be their honesty about tobacco work and their desire to learn as quickly as possible.

After tobacco harvest the couple intends to move westward and then down the United States coast-line. The only certain visiting point in their state-wide tour is the Grand Canyon. Then they plan to carry on through to Canada and South America to Europe where Mr. Robins hopes to renew acquaintances with a Canadian with whom he took the Rover Maintenance course before the trip. The Canadian, a graduate of the University of Toronto, is collecting "biological" specimens there. Then the couple hope to embark for New Zealand.

The plans are optimistic and if perseverance means anything, two people more likely to succeed than Frank and Jackie Robins are going to be hard to find. And, as for the dog . . . he goes wherever

Juvenile ingenuity

A medicines cabinet stinging here a lock and key, or should be kept where it is quite out of reach of children alone most pumpkins regard any pills, tablets or medicines as an adventure in tasting. The usual place for household chemicals is under the kitchen sink this cupboard should also have a lock, if there is a young child in the house, since dangerous, by bleach, kerosene or some other may all be sampled if the adventure finds them.

Hudson Bay - The Pas connected by new highway

The all weather road between The Pas and Hudson Bay, Sask., is completed. Constructed by Saskatchewan's Dept. of Natural Resources, the road will save northern Manitoba motorists almost 400 miles on their journey to the north.

The road is the first main link between the northern regions of Manitoba and Saskatchewan outside of winter roads constructed and maintained between here and Hudson Bay and Flin Flon and Nipigon.

Completion of the road is due in part to a new policy of the Federal Government in sharing road costs where such roads are required for national development. Following completion of the road work crews were moved up to Flin Flon and into Saskatchewan to work on the Hanson Lake road from that centre to Nipigon. —The Northern Mail, The Pas, Man.

Banff School of Fine Arts Canada's Campus in the Clouds

The school offers a wide variety of courses from Theatre and Play Writing to Oil Painting and Photography. Many courses may be taken for University credit. About 600 students attend the summer classes, some of them from such far away places as Australia, Norway and Lithuania.

Art students have no difficulty finding a subject to inspire them. The school is surrounded by some of the most fascinating scenery in the Rockies. Today it is available in a wide range of subjects.

Students profit from their luxurious shelter accommodations in a grand mountain. To date, 15,000 students have attended the Banff School of Fine Arts, the summer sessions for an excellent "holiday" at school.

The Banff School of Fine Arts is quite literally a campus with its "heart in the clouds" although every room Director to students has throughout its 26-year history will find it difficult to find a more beautiful location. The school is situated on a mountain peak on which it was founded - to match the mind in a setting to inspire the spirit - has only deepened with the years.
